FREE TRAINING FOR SCHOOL-BASED EMPLOYEES

The School Action for Safety and Health (SASH) Program is offering a training for school-based staff responsible for employee safety and health, including HR, administration and/or maintenance/operations.

This 6-hour session, led by University of California trainers, will take place over 2 mornings.

Participants will learn how to...

- Identify common causes of work-related accidents, injuries, and illnesses
- Involve employees in school safety programs

Participants will receive...

- A free printable guidebook
- An easy-to-use Injury and Illness Prevention Program (IIPP) template
- Factsheets and tools to help implement IIPPs

Course Details

Dates: 11/3 & 11/5

Time: 9 am - 12 pm

Location: Online via Zoom

Cost: Free

Register:

losh.ucla.edu/registration

Questions?

Contact Alejandro Caldera, Finance and Program Specialist, at acaldera@irle.ucla.edu

In collaboration with

UCLA Labor Occupational Safety & Health Program

© 2026 State of California DIR Commission on Health and Safety and Workers' Compensation. This flyer was developed by the UCLA Labor Occupational Safety and Health program. These materials are part of the School Action for Safety and Health (SASH) administered by the Commission on Health and Safety and Workers' Compensation in the Department of Industrial Relations through an inter-agency agreement with the Labor Occupational Health Program at the University of California, Berkeley with a subaward for the UCLA Labor Occupational Safety & Health Program. Learn more about SASH at dir.ca.gov/chswc/sash